Highlights from the Borough Service Cabinet (BSC) Meeting – 10/24/14

Presentation on: Commodity Distribution Point Program (OEM)

Commodity Distribution Point (CDP) is a program designed to provide a scalable system for the distribution of essential, life sustaining supplies during a disaster. CDP emerged out of Hurricane Sandy, as experiences of rescue and recovery effort suggest the natural and man-made events are highly capable of cutting off supplies of food, water and baby formula. OME has identified at least one site in each Community Board and is in the process of finding two alternate sites for every site. Department of Parks and Recreation and Department of Education are also closely involved in the site selection, as many potential CDP sites are either in various parks or in schools. The goal is to provide the public with a basic idea of site location, demarcated routes for each CDP site, information of all 59 district managers on the site for their individual district, and completion of storage and offloading facilities at each site.

CDP will act as a program immediately deployed upon the three “trigger” situations: 1) access to supplies “prevented” for 10,000 or more for at least 48 hours, 2) access to supplies “disrupted” for 20,000 or more for at least 48 hours, and 3) any other obvious needs for life-sustaining supplies arising from a given population.

CDP works with various non-profit organizations and GrowNYC, as well as a number of vendors and suppliers, in securing a steady amount of non-perishable items and having them readily available for distribution at any time. Each CDP site can provide life-sustaining supplies for up to three to five days. There are over 100 sites across NYC where post-disaster medication distribution will take place. Dept. of Health and Mental Hygiene recently conducted a drill involving at 30 sites. It is also likely that CDP will partner with this program to integrate the distribution of medications into the system.

Presentation on: NYSERDA Economic Development Growth Extension (Solar 1)

Solar 1 is an organization under contract with NYS Energy Research Development Authority (NYSERDA) established to reach out to commercial and residential occupants, especially those in apartment buildings and small shops, on energy efficiency initiatives. Developing a working relationship with Community Boards, Elected Officials and governmental agencies, Solar 1 builds on this foundation and has established themselves a partner with community organizations to promote the replacement of outdated infrastructure with efficient new technology. Solar 1 is also committed to assisting clients in securing grants, subsidies and tax credits for these initiatives.

Established in 1975, NYSERDA is a public benefit corporation funded through a service benefit charge assessed through utilities. All residential buildings, including public housing units, are assessed this charge. NYSERDA then awards contracts to both non-profit organizations and for-profit corporations to promote energy efficiency and to perform the actual work of installing efficient devices. As a non-profit, Solar 1 is committed to serve as a one-stop resource for energy efficiency initiatives and to assist clients in having a look at premises, suggesting efficiency measures and applying for funds from NYSERDA.

Presentation on: City Email Address Pilot for Manhattan Community Board Members

The Department of Information Technology and Telecommunications (DoITT), in consultation with the Manhattan Borough President's Office and Mayor's Community Affairs Unit, is planning to provide New York City Community Board members with official New York City email addresses. This would enable community board members to use official government addresses with engaging in City business. DoITT will be piloting this initiative with Manhattan Community Boards for potential citywide expansion.

Once implemented, any community board member with internet access will be able to log-in using the Microsoft Outlook Web Application (OWA). This is the same tool City employees from Mayoral and other agencies utilize when needing to access their email boxes remotely.

There is no cost to Community Boards or their members for this service.

Participating board members will be required to review and abide by the Citywide Acceptable Use Policy for Technology Resources, to be distributed by the board office.
